

Solutions for Higher Education

Today's higher education institutions face a host of challenges ranging from understanding the needs, wants, concerns, and opinions of high school graduates entering college as well as full- and part-time students, to understanding the needs of their faculty and staff, the community, businesses and alumni. To successfully understand those needs, today's institutions must not only conduct surveys on a regular basis, but also be collecting, managing and responding to feedback (complaints, concerns, suggestions, etc.) in real-time on an ongoing basis. Fortunately, Inquisite, an Allegiance company, can help.

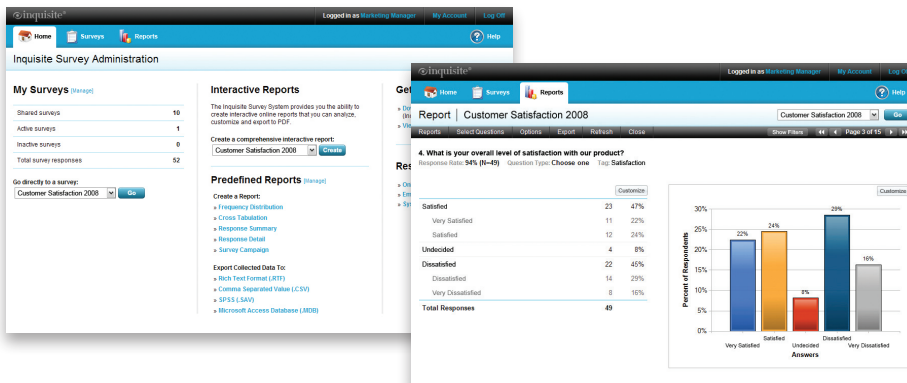

Easily Design and Administer Surveys

Inquisite offers a powerful survey solution called Inquisite Survey which is sophisticated enough for the most rigorous of institutional research departments, yet easy enough for anyone on campus to use. This robust, flexible and self-administered survey solution allows you to build high-quality surveys, and gather and understand the wants and opinions of students, faculty and staff, alumni, and others.

SOME OF THE FEATURES OFFERED BY THIS SOLUTION INCLUDE:

- Basic and advanced survey design features, including standardized survey libraries and templates to ensure the proper design as well as data integrity.
- Administration and analysis features, including survey administration and data sharing, invitation management, fatigue management, survey publishing, response collection, reporting and analysis, and more.

The solution also lets you export your survey data to SPSS, MS Office suite, and other formats for more in-depth analysis. Moreover it lets you synch your survey data with your existing student management systems such as Banner, SAP, DataTel or Blackboard.

WITH THE INQUISITE SURVEY SOLUTION HIGHER EDUCATION INSTITUTIONS CAN:

- Conduct faculty teaching and course evaluations
- Measure student satisfaction, loyalty and engagement
- Conduct distance learning surveys
- Use data-driven strategies to improve institutional effectiveness

IT ALSO LETS YOU:

- Build and design professional-looking surveys
- Standardize and centralize survey data collection and reporting for reaffirmation of accreditation
- Minimize survey fatigue

All of the Tools that You Need to Listen & Respond in Real-Time

In addition to offering a robust survey solution, Inquisite also offers a broader feedback management solution through its parent company, Allegiance, called the Engage platform which lets you hear and rapidly respond to the voice of your students, faculty and staff, alumni, businesses, the local community, etc., in real-time 24/7/365. This solution enables you to centrally collect, manage, analyze and act on feedback from surveys, questionnaires, unprompted comments, etc. Furthermore it puts you in touch with your students, faculty and staff, alumni and others via:

- Web links
- Telephone hotlines
- Online comment portals
- Solicited and unsolicited feedback
- Email surveys

Just by clicking a link, your students, faculty and staff, alumni, and others, can share comments about their experiences or expectations, even anonymously if they would like, and you'll be able to review and act on that feedback in real-time. Plus, the system also accelerates pressing issues to your senior leaders right away!

All of the Professional Services Support That You Need to Succeed
