

DataSync Solutions

Synch All Your Information

You've got a customer service system that tracks incoming calls. A CRM tool that gives purchase insights. A database full of sales contact information. But nothing that links them all together. A wealth of information is only as good as your ability to use it, and bringing together islands of data is not only overwhelming, but extremely time consuming and expensive—until now. Allegiance can help maximize the potential of your data by syncing and sharing it among applications.

DataSync

Make your existing tools more valuable

Allegiance DataSync is a synchronization tool that allows data to be shared in real time between diverse applications. Imagine integrating a contact list with an Allegiance survey that follows up on sales decisions. Or letting your customer service team see a person's profile alongside the feedback that individual gave via an Allegiance feedback solution. DataSync multiplies the value of Allegiance Enterprise Feedback Management and your data-oriented applications by connecting the data within each.

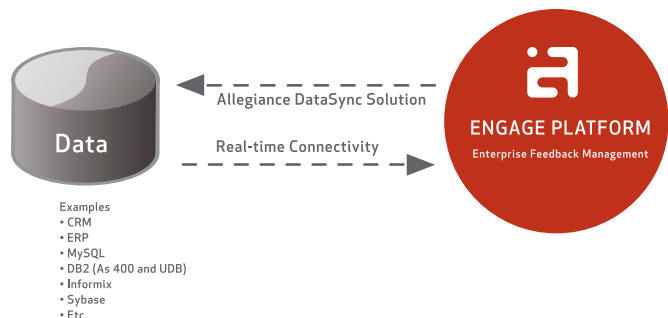

Maximize your company's relationships

By giving your organization an easy way to access multiple sources of information, you can begin to understand your customer and employee groups better. Synch response data with existing information systems provides a more holistic view of what's going on in their minds as well as their actions. Seeing this data together in real time allows you to respond more effectively—whatever the interaction may be. For instance, when a potential customer chooses not to buy from you, that decision is often left as a dead end. However, DataSync can use this action to deploy an Allegiance survey so you can learn why the customer went another direction. This act in itself creates a relationship with your company—and opens the door for future communications.

By using DataSync to share data you will know more about the people your company interacts with, you'll make more informed decisions, and you'll gain a significant competitive advantage. Consider the ways you can empower your business processes by sharing information via DataSync:

- Connect survey responses with customer databases
- Sync incidents or complaints to CRM systems for better service efforts
- Connect employee input with HR data systems
- Send alert notifications to external reports and other processes
- Set up surveys to monitor post-transaction feedback

- Deploy Allegiance surveys to query and thank customers according to sales histories
- Display or link to external database information on dashboards
- Increase the accuracy and volume of feedback by syncing data lists
- Make reports more comprehensive and robust

Save time and money

Cross-referencing disparate data sources is extremely time and labor intensive. Custom integration solutions are typically too cumbersome and costly for organizations to implement. DataSync, however, allows you to quickly and easily export information from one application and transfer it to another. Synchronizing the data is bi-directional and in near real time, so you can always have the most recent, relevant information at your fingertips.

Works easily with the systems you use now

Best of all, DataSync is incredibly easy to deploy and manage. As a Software as a Service (SaaS) solution, there's just a one-time setup with minimal configuration and internal development. DataSync was created specifically to connect information across different platforms and remote systems, so you won't have to worry about an impact on current infrastruc-
